PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.

About half-past eleven o'clock this forenoon the people of the 9th Ward and Pitt Township, in the neighborhood of Reese, Grant & Dull's rolling mills, were startled by a loud report as if some explosion had taken place. Instantly thereafter an alarm of fire was sounded from box No. 65, corner of Penn and Smith streets, and before the people in the immediate neighborhood understood the nature of the occurrence, the engines were on their way to the place. It was soon ascertained that an explosion had occurred in the forge portion of the mill, and that this portion of the building had been blown to atoms, involving the loss of a number of lives and more or less severely injuring an unknown number of men and boys. To add to the terrible nature of the calamity, the ruins had caught fire and were in flames. Immediate efforts were made to check the flames; at the same time every exertion was made to rescue from the ruins such of the injured as could not help themselves, and to take out the bodies of the killed. Every physician within reach was promptly summoned and by the time the seriously injured ones had been removed was ready for them. The scene at first was one of the most terrible imaginable. The dead and the wounded were lying together, and those who were not too badly mangled, dragged themselves as far away from the scene of terror as possible. Those who had been in the mill at work, and had escaped, were hastening home to tell of their safety, while distracted wives, sisters, children and mothers were running to and fro to ascertain the fate of their loved ones. It is, of course, impossible to ascertain the number of injured in the present state of prevailing excitement. About sixty men were employed in the portion of the mill where the explosion occurred, but how many of them escaped is not known. So far as is ascertained, twelve men were killed, most of them instantly. In one or two cases, death did not occur until some time after the sufferers had been removed from the wreck.

The following are the names of the killed so far as ascertained; there may be still others, but this list comprises the number known to have been killed at one o'clock: Edwin Hutchinson, engineer, head blown off, leaves a wife and several small children, residing on Foundry street; Barney Boyce, fireman, instantly killed, leaves a wife and three children; Jas. Cosick, helper, leaves wife and children on Boundary street; Patrick Gallivan, laborer, killed by scalding, was a single man recently from Ireland; Joseph Williams, puddler, leaves a wife and family; Michael Sullivan, puddler, killed instantly; Andrew Vallandigham, muck-shearer, an old man, was instantly killed; John Williams, boiler, instantly killed. A man named Murphy was taken out dead. James Weaver was injured so badly that he died an hour after being removed. James McCaffrey's head was crushed so badly that he died. There is a man missing whose name we could not learn, but who is said to be a nephew of ex-Mayor Lowry.

There can be no estimate formed of the number of wounded. The following are among the number: Two boys of Mr. Miller, not thought seriously hurt; Eliza Decker, laborer, seriously hurt; a man named Konty, thought fatally; John Cook, seriously; James Boyler, seriously; many other recover. Have a man broken and skull fractured. A man, name unknown was injured about the head, and was rendered delirious; Kennedy McKee, seriously; a man named Townsend, severely; Casper Blacksmith, leg broken; a man named Hanlon, probably fatally.

Some miraculous escapes occurred. One of the firemen was standing near Mr. Hutchinson, the engineer, who was killed, escaped unhurt. Mr. Kosick, one of the proprietors, was standing near the exploded boiler, and was not injured. John Myer, one of the employees, was blown to the bank of the river, the distance is over two hundred feet. He got up and walked back to the mill not seriously hurt.

The cause of the explosion will probably never be known. The engineer and fireman, the only ones who could have given any information are both killed. There were three boilers in the building blown to pieces. They were comparatively new, having been put in in 1865, and were made of iron. Half of one of the boilers was blown out of the forge and against a brick wall in an adjoining yard, distant over three hundred feet. It is impossible to reduce what was a building to shapeless a mass of sticks and iron. The flames which caught among the ruins were nearly subdued when we left, after one o'clock. The loss by the explosion and fire is $10,000.

The following additional casualties are reported: John Williams, Jr., hurt in the legs; Andrew Williams had his leg broken off; Peter Rosenberg, several ribs broken; Abner Jones, boy, killed; Albert Cook, boy, blown over the river bank and sustained severe injuries; James McCaffrey, shoulder dislocated; Jacob Miller, killed; Patrick Monahan, fireman, killed; Andrew Hutchinson, leg blown off; Henry Koch, killed. A man named Hanlon was killed. A number of others were injured, but their names were not ascertained.

New York Specials.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Herald's Washington special says: The regular session of the National Convention, now commanded by Gen. Emery, is considered inadequate for the protection of the public interest, and will be increased so that they may be ready for any emergency growing out of Congressional usurpation or negro disfranchisement. The President's intention to remove the Radicals, and his deposition and impeachment, Gen. Sherman, on his arrival, will probably take the command.

The Executive Committee of the Conservative party of Virginia have called a State Convention to meet on the 11th of December to effect an organization throughout the State. The call is issued in response to the wish of the press and people of the State, there is no doubt but it will be responded to by the people of the entire State, and the very best of the State will be represented, and an organization effected which will successfully oppose the Radicals.

Gen. Grant, on having Forey's editorial shown him, disapproved of portions of it and said he had not authorized the editor to speak for him. The Tribune special says: It has been announced that the President is engaged on his message to Congress which will be presented on the 1st day of the session, on the 21st inst. This announcement does not appear to have any valid foundation. There is no probability of Mr. Johnson's not having commenced the preparation of such a message, and that it is considered as decidedly against the President's interest.

The report of General Grant, in answer to the inquiry of troops were stationed within the Department of Washington, shows that the whole force amounts to but little over 100,000 men, all told, in the States of Maryland and Delaware, the District of Columbia, and two counties in Virginia.

The Times' special says: Proceeding against Gen. Schofield, to test the effect of the election in Virginia, have ended in smoke. It was simply an effort for notoriety by a Richmond lawyer, but he proved to be a very brief affair.

The Herald's Havana special says: Santa Ana is engaged in buying a large quantity of arms and ammunition from the Mexican Capital to Oct. 29th, states that President Juarez has been triumphantly elected. The Government has come here to negotiate a loan of twelve millions at Washington.

From New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—In the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, resolutions were adopted for the abolition of the cotton tax, and appointing a committee to memorialize Congress to that effect. The resolutions were adopted by a large majority.

New York, Nov. 8.—A Herald correspondent who has travelled through southwestern Virginia says every negro cabin contains a rifle or revolver, and loaded shotguns, bar and school houses, negroes nightly drill with guns mounted to prevent intrusion of whites. In the woods in which over one hundred negroes were engaged. The whites were fearful of negro outrages.

At an important meeting of merchants to-day a committee was appointed to represent the merchants of the city at a meeting of the National Association of Merchants, to be held at the city of St. Louis, Mo., on the 15th inst. A two thousand recruits are ready here for the Fifth Military District, soon to be formed.

The failure of a large dry goods and jobbing firm is reported; name not reported. Collector of Internal Revenue, Bailey, was before the grand jury to-day, which is believed will soon present an indictment against him for alleged frauds.

There were considerable seizures of whisky to-day, including one lot of 3000 gallons. Level Steinhart has recovered $2,500 from the seizure of whisky. The property destroyed by fire in the transit to Cincinnati.

From Port au Prince.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—At Port au Prince, on the night of the 12th inst., a mob of 1200 armed men surrounded the House of the Assembly, and demanded the resignation of the President. The mob kept firing on the palace, cheering all the while for Salazar, at whose instigation the mob had been sent to the city. Salazar is taking every measure to separate himself from the mob, and is occupying himself in the permanent occupation of the Presidency.

Fire.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 8.—A fire occurred at Ware, Mass., Wednesday night, and destroyed the Unitarian Church and the Town Hall, with their contents, and an additional loss of $18,000. The fire broke out at 10 o'clock, and spread rapidly. The cause of the fire is unknown. A high wind prevailed at the time, and the fire spread rapidly. The loss is estimated at $18,000.
